Fund Update – November 2019

- Equity markets had a solid month in November driven by optimism of a US-China trade deal and potentially further monetary policy easing in 2020 by the Reserve Bank of Australia
- Defensive sectors continued to perform well within the Australian market
- The Fund rose 3.0% during the month and has returned 18.5% so far this calendar year, led by healthcare exposures

Market review

Global markets rallied in November. Developed markets rose 3.2% in local currency terms, while emerging markets lagged, with a rise of only 0.6%. By index, the S&P500 Index led markets, with a total return of 3.6%, followed by the ASX300 Accumulation Index (+3.2%) and Euro Stoxx 50 Index (+2.8%). The main focus of markets this month was the ongoing trade dispute between the US and China. Early in the month, China raised hopes a deal could be reached to end the trade war after the US agreed to roll back some tariffs. However, the following day, US President Donald Trump announced he was yet to agree to a tariff roll back.

Bulk commodity prices were mixed in November, with iron ore up US$4.0/t to US$87.0/t, but both thermal and hard coking coal fell. Brent oil prices ended the month up US$2.20/bbl to US$62.43/bbl. Gold prices fell $50.80/oz to $1,460.14/oz on the rise of the USD, reduced trade war risks and tentative signs of a recovery in global growth

The ASX300 Accumulation Index rose 3.2%. By sector, IT (+11.0%), Health Care (+8.2%) and Consumer Staples (+8.2%) led the rise in Australia, while Financials (-2.0%), Utilities (-0.6%) and REITS (+2.3%) underperformed the most.

Defensives sectors continued to perform strongly. After Technology, and Health Care, Consumer Staples (+8.1%) continued to outperform in a rising market despite high valuations. In Health care, CSL (+10.7%) and Cochlear (+10.6%) were key contributors to the rise. For Consumer Staples, the key positive contributors to the sector outperformance were A2 Milk (+22.7%) and Coca-Cola (+12.1%). Banks lagged. Except for CBA (+2.7%) all the banks in the ASX 100 posted a negative total return in November, with 4 of the 5 worst performers being banks (WBC -10.2%, BOQ -10.1%, NAB -6.6%, BEN -5.8%).

This graph shows how $100,000 invested at the Fund's Inception has increased to $217,300 (net of fees excluding performance fees). This compares very favourably with the return of the benchmark, where a $100,000 investment would have increased to $173,400 over the same period. The returns exclude the benefits of imputation credits.

Fund review and strategy

The Fund posted a gain of 3.0% in November, and has returned 18.5% so far this calendar year. The Fund maintains a strong long term performance record of 11.6% per annum since inception in October 2012 and has demonstrated consistent outperformance against its 8% benchmark across all standard timeframes of 1, 3 and 5 years.

Getting macro calls right is difficult. Although there's another month to go, we look to close 2019 on a strong note. This year has been exceptional. No one would have predicted the Australian share market would be one of the best performing share markets globally this year—it's another reminder of the follies of trying to predict where markets land. Few have successfully and consistently been able to do so.

Bottom up approach with a focus on company fundamentals. Fund performance this year had been strongly supported by our healthcare investments into companies such as CSL, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare and Resmed. All three companies operate on a global scale and are subject to significant competitive pressures. Their share price appreciation this year truly reflects some of the characteristics we look for: strong businesses that are led by great management teams, with the ability to compound earnings growth. Having benefitted from the strong price appreciation this year, we do not expect a similar share price trajectory in 2020. We will, at some point next year, start to reduce our positions, or may even exit certain positions as opportunities turn up.

In the small/mid cap space, where the Fund has a 45% exposure, Collins Food, Credit Corp and City Chic have been standout performers this year. All three companies appreciated over 50% through the year.

On the downside, the banks have been a disappointing contributor to performance, particular in the past six months. The Fund currently holds 12% in commercial banks, less than half of banks' weighting in the main stock market indices.

Preparing for new opportunities. Turning to 2020, we are preparing for new opportunities to emerge. Share markets have been somewhat benign for past six months, hence we won't be surprised if markets trade somewhat choppy over the next six months. We intend to take advantage of sell downs to opportunistically invest in high quality companies at attractive/lower prices.

We believe share markets have the potential to do reasonably well in 2020: interest rates are poised to stay low (some would say lower). The prospect of fiscal policy and a potential upswing in the global economy could be key factors for a positive environment for equity markets.
